SUGAR BEET OUTLOOK.

Very Promising in All Sections-Serious Accident-Schools Closed.

Special Correspondence.

Lehi, Utah Co., May 18.—Hon. George Austin, agricultural superintendent of the Utah Sugar company, returned last Monday evening from a day's visit to the new cutting station at Spanish Fork and also from a visit through the beet districts there. He says the work on the new cutting station is progressing very nicely. They have erected a beet shed and everything will be ready at that place for the beet crop by Sept. I. Thinning has started all over this county and the beets are in excellent shape and a very even stand. In Bear river they have a good stand also and they have started quite a force of Japs to work thinning out the beets. Next Monday and Tuesday about 75 boys will be taken up from Leni, Provo, Benjamin and Payson to help in the thinning.

The mother beets that came from Washington and were planted on the Saratoga Springs farm are doing fine. The single germ beet seed were planted about a week ago. Mr. Austin has received a letter from Mr. C. O. Townsend, of the agricultural department at Washington, last week asking him to wire him when the mother beets begin to send out flowers, and he and another expert of the department will come out here and take care of the beets. Their chief work will be to take the pollen from one flower and put it into another to propogate the seed and then a small paper sack will be placed over each flower so that the pollen cannot be interferred with by bees or other insects.

be placed over each flower so that the pollen cannot be interferred with by bees or other insects.

Mr. Austin was also up in Idaho last week and spent two days in traveling around the country, also at the Idaho and Sugar City plants. The crop up there is about ten days behind the beet crop down here. Their prospects look fine.

The Utah County Light and Power Co. is busy running about a half mile of poles and wire along the road north of the factory to the lower part of Lehl. Heretofore all the load of lighting has been taken by the line in the northern part of town, and the strain has been great, but now this new line will take all the load in the lower part of town.

Malad, Oneida Co., Ida., May 15 .- In the northwestern part of the valley last Friday about 4 p. m. the lower part of the St. John reservoir dam gave way, letting out an enormous body of water. For one hour and a half it played havoc with everything in its course, carrying trees, cattle, fences, bridges and everything mova-ble in its wake. Many farms were cov-ered with shrubbery, wire and poles, almost utterly destroying the crops for the present year. Although men gal-loped through the fields warning the people it was impossible to clear things from its track, so great was the velo-city of the water. We are happy to say that no human lives were lost, but the damages are estimated at about $20,000. The creeks are filled to overflowing and people from the northwest and southwest towns have to ford these streams in order to reach Malad.
